

iGrafx® Announces Collaborative Process Management Solutions that Help Customers Centralize, Share and Seamlessly Manage Process Knowledge

Munich - August 23, 2016 — iGrafx®, a leading provider of Business Process Management (BPM) solutions, announced enhanced Collaborative Process Management capabilities that help businesses centralize and govern process knowledge and improvement efforts for operational efficiency.

Having a central repository that stores and manages processes as well as all associated information, and leveraging that as reusable knowledge to accelerate projects is key to providing process transparency and understanding throughout an organization. By centralizing process knowledge, iGrafx Collaborative Process Management solutions help companies become more productive in developing, documenting, communicating, and managing business process information.

“In order for companies to successfully drive business performance with transformation and innovation initiatives, they must be able to understand existing processes and manage process change throughout their organization,” said Armin Trautner, Managing Director EMEA of iGrafx. “iGrafx Collaborative Process Management solutions aid effective collaboration and communication by getting everyone on the same page, speeding up improvement efforts and driving operational efficiency.”

By having visibility into current process information that can be contrasted with historical data, tying roles to responsibilities, and having the ability to easily identify information gaps, iGrafx Collaborative Process Management solutions enable effective management of change and drives collaboration and improved process efficiency.

“By starting with centralizing process knowledge and bringing that knowledge to light, companies can ensure the right data gets into the right hands, fostering an environment that fuels productivity and facilitates process optimization,” said Stefan Hessenbruch, Professional Services Manager EMEA.
