

Enabling Process Excellence™

Operate More Efficiently:
Centralize, Share and Manage Process Knowledge

With iGrafx Collaborative Process Management Solutions, it's easy to be on the same page within your organization by leveraging a central repository that allows you to store, share and manage change across all of your processes and associated information.

iGrafx Collaborative Process Management Solutions

Having a central repository that stores and manages change of processes as well as all associated information, and leveraging that as reusable knowledge to accelerate projects, is key to providing process transparency and understanding throughout an organization.

By centralizing process knowledge, iGrafx Collaborative Process Management solutions help companies become more productive in developing, documenting, communicating, and managing business process information.
